How to Use This Pack

This pack is not here to impress you. It is here to help you move.

Use one prompt at a time. Replace the brackets with your business, customer, offer, and goal.

Then refine the answer until it sounds like you. Ask the AI to make it clearer, stronger, shorter, more local, more premium, or more practical.

The goal is not to create random content. The goal is to turn good thinking into repeatable systems.

Quick method:

1. Copy one prompt.
2. Replace every bracketed section with your real business details.
3. Run the prompt in ChatGPT, Gemini, Claude, or your preferred AI tool.
4. Ask for 3 improved versions until the output sounds usable.
5. Save the best outputs and turn them into templates for future posts, messages, offers, and follow-ups.

1. What Do I Really Sell?

Most businesses think they sell a product. Usually, they sell a result.

PROMPT TO COPY

Act as a marketing strategist. Help me clarify what my business really sells beyond the physical product or service.

My business is: [describe business]

My product/service is: [insert offer]

My target customer is: [describe customer]

The main problem they have is: [problem]

Give me:

1. The surface-level thing I sell
2. The deeper emotional result I sell
3. The practical outcome I sell
4. A simple one-line positioning statement
5. 5 better ways to explain my offer to customers

Expected outputs:

- Surface-level offer
- Deeper emotional result
- Practical outcome
- One-line positioning statement
- 5 better ways to explain the offer

2. Customer Pain Decoder

People buy faster when you describe their problem better than they can.

PROMPT TO COPY

Act as a customer psychology expert. Help me understand the hidden pains, fears, desires, and frustrations of my target customer.

My business: [describe business]

My target customer: [describe customer]

My offer: [describe offer]

Break down:

1. What they say they want
2. What they actually want

3. What they are afraid of
4. What annoys them about current options
5. What would make them trust a business like mine
6. 10 content ideas based on these insights

Expected outputs:

- What they say they want
- What they actually want
- Fears
- Frustrations
- Trust triggers
- 10 content ideas

3. Better Facebook Post

Turn basic announcements into posts people actually stop for.

PROMPT TO COPY

Rewrite this business post so it sounds more human, more interesting, and more persuasive without sounding desperate or too salesy.

Original post: [paste post]

Target audience: [describe audience]

Goal of the post: [awareness/enquiries/sales/follows]

Tone: clear, warm, confident, slightly witty

Give me:

1. A stronger hook
2. A short caption
3. A more emotional version
4. A more premium version
5. A call-to-action that does not sound needy

Expected outputs:

- Stronger hook
- Short caption
- Emotional version
- Premium version
- Better CTA

4. 30 Content Ideas From One Offer

Most people do not have a content problem. They have an angle problem.

PROMPT TO COPY

Act as a content strategist. Generate 30 content ideas from one business offer.

My offer is: [describe offer]

My audience is: [describe audience]

My goal is: [get leads/build trust/explain value/increase sales]

Organize the ideas into:

1. Educational posts
2. Story-based posts
3. Mistakes customers make
4. Before-and-after content
5. Objection-handling posts
6. Funny or relatable posts

For each idea, give me a hook and a short caption direction.

Expected outputs:

- Educational posts
- Story-based posts
- Mistakes customers make
- Before-and-after content
- Objection-handling posts
- Relatable posts

5. Why Are People Not Buying?

Diagnose the real blockage before you blame the algorithm.

PROMPT TO COPY

Act as a business consultant. Diagnose why people may not be buying from my business.

My business is: [describe business]

My offer is: [describe offer]

My price is: [insert price]

My current marketing method is: [describe method]

People usually respond by saying: [insert common responses]

Diagnose possible problems in:

1. Offer clarity
2. Pricing
3. Trust
4. Urgency
5. Audience targeting
6. Follow-up
7. Content quality

Then give me 10 practical fixes I can test this week.

Expected outputs:

- Offer clarity
- Pricing
- Trust
- Urgency
- Targeting
- Follow-up
- Content quality
- 10 practical fixes

6. Follow-Up Without Begging

Money often hides in people who said “I’ll get back to you.”

PROMPT TO COPY

Write 5 follow-up messages for a potential customer who showed interest but has not bought yet.

My business: [describe business]

Product/service: [describe offer]

Customer asked about: [insert enquiry]

Time since last message: [insert time]

Tone: helpful, confident, not desperate

Give me:

1. A soft reminder
2. A value-based follow-up
3. A scarcity/urgency follow-up
4. A question-based follow-up
5. A final polite close-the-loop message

Expected outputs:

- Soft reminder
- Value-based follow-up
- Urgency follow-up
- Question-based follow-up
- Final close-the-loop message

7. Turn Features Into Benefits

Customers do not wake up dreaming about your features. They wake up with problems.

PROMPT TO COPY

Help me turn my product/service features into benefits customers care about.

Product/service: [describe it]

Features: [list features]

Target customer: [describe customer]

Create a table with:

1. Feature
2. Practical benefit
3. Emotional benefit
4. Customer-friendly explanation
5. A short marketing line for each feature

Expected outputs:

- Feature
- Practical benefit
- Emotional benefit
- Customer-friendly explanation
- Marketing line

8. Offer Makeover

A weak offer makes good marketing work too hard.

PROMPT TO COPY

Act as an offer strategist. Improve this offer so it feels clearer, more valuable, and easier to say yes to.

Current offer: [describe offer]

Price: [insert price]

Target customer: [describe customer]

What is included: [list inclusions]

Main customer problem: [describe problem]

Give me:

1. A better offer name
2. A clearer promise
3. What to add to increase value
4. What to remove if it creates confusion
5. 3 pricing/package ideas
6. A simple sales pitch

Expected outputs:

- Better offer name
- Clearer promise
- Value adds
- Items to remove if confusing
- Pricing/package ideas
- Simple sales pitch

9. Customer Objection Crusher

Objections are not rejection. They are unspoken questions wearing a fake moustache.

PROMPT TO COPY

Help me respond to customer objections in a way that builds trust instead of arguing.

My business: [describe business]

My offer: [describe offer]

Common objections I hear: [list objections]

For each objection, give me:

1. What the customer may really mean
2. A calm response
3. A proof point I should provide
4. A follow-up question
5. A short WhatsApp reply version

Expected outputs:

- What the customer may really mean
- Calm response
- Proof point
- Follow-up question

- WhatsApp reply

10. Simple 7-Day Marketing Plan

Clarity beats panic. Every time.

PROMPT TO COPY

Create a simple 7-day marketing action plan for my business.

My business: [describe business]

My target customer: [describe customer]

My offer: [describe offer]

My current platforms: [Facebook/Instagram/WhatsApp/TikTok/etc.]

My goal this week: [more enquiries/more sales/more followers/bookings]

My available budget: [insert budget]

Give me:

1. One action per day
2. One post idea per day
3. One follow-up task per day
4. One simple metric to track per day
5. A weekly review checklist

Expected outputs:

- One action per day
- One post idea per day
- One follow-up task per day
- One simple metric per day
- Weekly review checklist

BONUS. I Am Confused, Help Me Start

For the person who opens AI and immediately feels like they are staring into a fridge at midnight.

PROMPT TO COPY

I am a small business owner and I feel overwhelmed by marketing. Interview me one question at a time so you can help me clarify my offer, my customer, my message, and my next best marketing action.

Do not give me a full plan yet. Ask me one question, wait for my answer, then ask the next question.

After 10 questions, summarize my best marketing direction.

Expected outputs:

- A guided 10-question marketing interview
- Clarified offer, customer, message, and next action

Final Note

Do not wait until your logo is perfect.

Do not wait until your page looks expensive.

Do not wait until you feel ready.

The first step is clarity. The second step is consistency. The third step is building a system that does not need your mood to function.
